TERM: FIRST 2026/2027 ACADEMIC SESSION

WEEK: ONE

CLASS: SS1

SUBJECT: English Language

TOPIC: Parts of Speech

Introduction

- Words in English are grouped into eight parts of speech: noun, pronoun, verb, adjective, adverb, preposition, conjunction and interjection. Knowing them helps you build and analyse sentences correctly.

The eight parts with examples

- Noun — names a person, place, thing or idea (teacher, Abuja, honesty).
- Pronoun — replaces a noun (he, she, it, they, who).
- Verb — expresses action or state (run, is, think).
- Adjective — describes a noun (tall, blue, three).
- Adverb — modifies a verb, adjective or another adverb (quickly, very, here).
- Preposition — shows relationship (in, on, under, between).
- Conjunction — joins words or clauses (and, but, because, although).
- Interjection — expresses emotion (Oh!, Hurray!, Alas!).

Identifying parts of speech

- Ask what job the word does in its sentence: a word can change its part of speech by position — fast is an adjective in 'a fast car' but an adverb in 'he runs fast'.

CLASS EVALUATION

1. List the eight parts of speech with one example each.
2. Identify the parts of speech in: 'The young boy quickly opened his new book.'
3. How can the same word be two different parts of speech? Illustrate.

WEEK: TWO

CLASS: SS1

SUBJECT: English Language

TOPIC: Tenses & Verb Forms

Introduction

- Tense shows the time of an action: past, present or future. It is formed by the verb in combination with auxiliaries (be, have, do, will).

Simple tenses

- Present — habits and general truths (She writes every day).
- Past — completed actions (We visited Lagos last week).
- Future — actions that will happen (They will travel tomorrow).

Continuous and perfect forms

- Present continuous — action in progress (He is reading now). Past continuous — was/were + -ing (We were sleeping when it rained). Present perfect — have/has + past participle, for actions with present relevance (She has finished her assignment). Past perfect — had + past participle (The bus had left before we arrived). Future perfect — will have + past participle (By June, I will have completed SS1).

Agreement

- The verb must agree with its subject in number: 'The boy is here' but 'The boys are here'. Irregular verbs change form: go/went/gone, see/saw/seen, eat/ate/eaten.

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Change 'She writes letters' into past, future, present continuous and present perfect.
2. What is the past participle of: break, choose, bring?
3. Correct: 'The students is in the hall.'
4. State the use of the present perfect tense.

WEEK: THREE

CLASS: SS1

SUBJECT: English Language

TOPIC: Sentence Types

Introduction

- Sentences are classified by structure (simple, compound, complex, compound-complex) and by purpose (declarative, interrogative, imperative, exclamatory).

By structure

- Simple — one independent clause (The girl sang).
- Compound — two or more independent clauses joined by a coordinating conjunction (The girl sang and the boy danced).
- Complex — one independent clause + one or more subordinate clauses (Because it rained, the match was postponed).
- Compound-complex — combination, e.g. two main clauses and a subordinate clause.

By purpose

- Declarative — makes a statement. Interrogative — asks a question. Imperative — gives a command or request. Exclamatory — expresses strong feeling.

Clause recognition skills

- A clause has a subject and a verb. Main clauses can stand alone; subordinate clauses begin with subordinators (because, although, when, if, that, who) and cannot stand alone.

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Classify these sentences as simple/compound/complex: 'I slept late; I missed the bus.'
2. Write one sentence of each purpose type about your school.
3. Identify the main and subordinate clauses in: 'Although she was tired, she kept working.'
4. What makes a clause independent?

WEEK: FOUR

CLASS: SS1

SUBJECT: English Language

TOPIC: Vocabulary in Context

Introduction

- Vocabulary development means learning words in the company of their contexts so their meanings are clear. Context clues — definitions, examples, contrast and cause — reveal the meaning of unfamiliar words.

Types of context clues

- Definition clue — 'A pedestrian, that is, a person walking, crossed the road.'
- Example clue — 'She liked cereals such as maize, rice and millet.'
- Contrast clue — 'He was temperate, unlike his brother who drank excessively.'
- Cause/effect clue — 'The drought was so severe that famine spread through the region.'

Word families and collocations

- Learn words with their families (decide, decision, decisive, indecisive) and their partners — collocations: make a decision, commit a crime, heavy rain, strong coffee. Register: formal (commence, purchase) vs informal (start, buy).

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Define the word 'famine' using its context clue in the example above.
2. Give two collocations for: decision, crime.
3. What is register? Give a formal and informal pair.
4. Use 'temperate' in a sentence of your own.

WEEK: FIVE

CLASS: SS1

SUBJECT: English Language

TOPIC: Comprehension: Main Idea & Supporting Details

Introduction

- Comprehension is understanding what you read. The main idea is what the whole passage is about; supporting details are the facts, examples and reasons that develop it.

Finding the main idea

- Read the passage once quickly (skimming) for the gist. Look for the topic sentence — usually the first or last sentence of the paragraph. Ask: 'What is the writer saying about the topic?' Express it in one sentence: that is the main idea.

Identifying details

- Supporting details answer who, what, when, where, why and how. Distinguish facts (verifiable) from opinions (personal views). Inference goes beyond what is stated — what the writer suggests but does not say directly.

Summary skills

- State the main idea in your own words; join related details into one or two sentences; never copy the passage word for word; keep to the instruction (e.g. one sentence, four points).

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Read a short passage and state its main idea in one sentence.
2. What is the difference between a fact and an opinion?
3. Explain what is meant by inference.
4. List three steps for summarising a passage.

TERM: FIRST 2026/2027 ACADEMIC SESSION

WEEK: SIX

CLASS: SS1

SUBJECT: English Language

TOPIC: Composition: Narrative Writing

Introduction

- A narrative is a story. Effective narratives follow a sequence: introduction (setting and characters), rising action, climax, falling action and resolution — told in the first person (I) or third person (he/she).

Planning a narrative

- Choose a clear topic (e.g. 'The day I will never forget'); brainstorm events in order; write an outline of 4–5 paragraphs with a strong opening sentence that catches the reader's attention.

Language and mechanics

- Use past tenses consistently; vivid verbs (stumbled, dashed, whispered) instead of weak ones (went, said); descriptive details for the five senses; correct punctuation of dialogue, and paragraphs that signal a new event. Conclude with a reflection that rounds off the story.

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Outline a narrative on 'My first day in secondary school' in five sentences.
2. Why is a story told in the past tense?
3. Give three vivid verbs to replace: walk, said, look.
4. What should the opening paragraph of a narrative achieve?
