TERM: SECOND 2026/2027 ACADEMIC SESSION

WEEK: SEVEN

CLASS: SS2

SUBJECT: Citizenship & Heritage Studies

TOPIC: HIV/AIDS & Stigma

Introduction

- HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) attacks the body's immune system; AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) is the advanced stage of the infection, when the immune system is badly damaged. It is a major public health challenge requiring knowledge, compassion and prevention.

Transmission

- The virus spreads through: unprotected sexual contact with an infected person; infected blood (transfusion, unsterilised needles and blades); and from mother to child (during pregnancy, birth or breastfeeding). It is NOT spread by hugging, shaking hands, sharing food, mosquito bites, toilet seats or swimming pools.

Prevention and treatment

- Abstinence, faithfulness, the correct use of condoms; only screened blood; sterilised needles and blades; prevention of mother-to-child transmission (PMTCT); testing and counselling; and antiretroviral therapy (ART) which controls the virus and lets people live long, healthy lives.

Stigma and discrimination

- Stigma is the negative attitude society holds about people living with HIV; discrimination is unfair treatment. Stigma drives people away from testing, hides the epidemic and breaks families. The right response is education, compassion, confidentiality and the protection of the rights of people living with HIV (the Anti-Stigma law and the HIV and AIDS (Anti-Discrimination) Act).

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Define HIV and AIDS.
2. State two ways HIV is and is not transmitted.
3. Mention two methods of prevention.
4. Why is stigma harmful to the fight against HIV/AIDS?

WEEK: EIGHT

CLASS: SS2

SUBJECT: Citizenship & Heritage Studies

TOPIC: Human Trafficking

Introduction

- Human trafficking is the recruitment, transportation, harbouring or receipt of persons by means of force, deceit or coercion, for exploitation — forced labour, sexual exploitation, begging, domestic servitude, organ removal or child soldiering. It is modern slavery and a crime.

Forms and causes

- Forms: trafficking for prostitution (especially of girls), child labour, domestic servitude, street begging, and the use of children for ritual purposes. Causes: poverty and unemployment; ignorance and deception by traffickers ('good jobs abroad'); weak family bonds; broken homes; greed; poor enforcement of laws; and large, unregulated migration.

Consequences

- Victims suffer physical abuse, diseases (including HIV), psychological trauma, loss of education and identity, social rejection and death. The nation loses young talent; the country's image abroad is damaged.

Prevention and response

- Public enlightenment and education; poverty alleviation and youth empowerment; stricter law enforcement (the Trafficking in Persons (Prohibition) Enforcement and Administration Act 2015 and NAPTIP — the National Agency for the Prohibition of Trafficking in Persons); the protection, rehabilitation and reintegration of victims; border surveillance; and the registration and regulation of employment agencies.

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Define human trafficking.
2. State three causes of trafficking in Nigeria.
3. Mention four consequences of trafficking.
4. What is the role of NAPTIP?

WEEK: NINE

CLASS: SS2

SUBJECT: Citizenship & Heritage Studies

TOPIC: Gender & Equality

Introduction

- Gender refers to the roles, behaviours and attributes that society assigns to men and women; sex is the biological difference. Gender equality means that men and women enjoy the same rights, opportunities and dignity.

Issues of inequality in Nigeria

- Girls are denied education in some communities; women face discrimination in inheritance and property rights; unequal access to jobs, credit and leadership; early/child marriage; gender-based violence (domestic abuse, rape, female genital mutilation); the under-representation of women in politics and public office; and the unequal burden of unpaid housework.

The case for equality

- Equal rights are human rights — guaranteed by the constitution (freedom from discrimination) and international instruments (CEDAW, the Beijing Platform). Equality is also economic sense: educated and employed women raise family incomes, child health and national development.

What can be done

- Girl-child education campaigns; laws against violence and harmful practices (the Violence Against Persons (Prohibition) Act 2015); affirmative action (quotas for women in politics and boards); empowerment programmes and credit for women; the education of boys and girls in shared responsibility; and the media projecting women as equals.

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Differentiate between sex and gender.
2. State three forms of gender inequality in Nigeria.
3. Mention two laws protecting women.
4. How can girls' education be promoted in your community?

TERM: SECOND 2026/2027 ACADEMIC SESSION

WEEK: TEN

CLASS: SS2

SUBJECT: Citizenship & Heritage Studies

TOPIC: Social Justice & Inclusiveness

Introduction

- Social justice is the fair distribution of benefits and burdens in society: equal rights, equal opportunity and fairness for all — regardless of income, gender, ethnicity, religion or disability. Inclusiveness means bringing all groups into the mainstream of national life.

Dimensions

- Economic justice — fair wages, equal opportunity, safety nets (the poverty alleviation programmes, conditional cash transfers, minimum wage). Political justice — the right to vote and be voted for, fair representation (the Federal Character principle, the Not-Too-Young-To-Run Act). Legal justice — equal treatment before the law, free legal aid. Social justice — access to education, health and housing for all; the care of the elderly, the disabled and vulnerable children.

Barriers in Nigeria

- Poverty and inequality; corruption that diverts public resources; discrimination against women, persons with disabilities (the Discrimination Against Persons with Disabilities (Prohibition) Act 2019) and ethnic minorities; regional imbalance; and weak institutions.

Promoting inclusiveness

- Good governance and the rule of law; social investment programmes (N-Power, conditional transfers); free and compulsory basic education; universal health care (NHIA); infrastructure in the rural areas; affirmative action; and civic education on the dignity of every person.

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Define social justice.
2. State three dimensions of social justice.
3. Mention two barriers to inclusiveness in Nigeria.
4. What is the Federal Character principle and why was it introduced?

TERM: SECOND 2026/2027 ACADEMIC SESSION

WEEK: ELEVEN

CLASS: SS2

SUBJECT: Citizenship & Heritage Studies

TOPIC: Culture, Values & Social Norms

Introduction

- Culture is the total way of life of a people — their language, religion, food, dress, arts, music and institutions, handed down from generation to generation. Values are the standards a people hold dear; social norms are the accepted rules of behaviour.

Elements of Nigerian culture

- Languages (over 250); festivals (New Yam, Argungu, Eyo, Durbar); dress; food; music and dance; arts and crafts; religion; greetings and the extended family system; and folklore. Cultural diversity is Nigeria's glory — unity in diversity is the national motto's spirit.

Positive and negative norms

- Positive: hospitality, respect for elders, honesty, hardwork, community spirit, religious tolerance. Negative: tribalism, child marriage, gender discrimination, extravagant ceremonies (wasteful funerals and weddings), bribery and the celebration of ill-gotten wealth. Value re-orientation campaigns (the National Re-orientation Agency) seek to revive good values.

Culture in a global world

- Globalisation and the mass media spread foreign culture — some good (science, human rights), some harmful (drug culture, indecent dressing, erosion of languages). The task: keep the good of our culture while taking the best from others.

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Define culture and give its elements.
2. Mention three positive and three negative Nigerian norms.
3. How does globalisation affect Nigerian culture?
4. Why is unity in diversity important for Nigeria?

TERM: SECOND 2026/2027 ACADEMIC SESSION

WEEK: TWELVE

CLASS: SS2

SUBJECT: Citizenship & Heritage Studies

TOPIC: National Consciousness & Patriotism (Revision)

Introduction

- National consciousness is the awareness of belonging to one nation — Nigeria — and of the duties that follow; patriotism is the love of that nation and the willingness to serve it. This week revises the term's civic themes and turns them into action.

The national identity

- The symbols of nationhood: the flag (green, white, green — agriculture, peace and unity), the coat of arms (the eagle, the horses, the shield, the 'Unity and Faith' motto), the National Anthem ('Arise, O Compatriots'), the pledge, the currency, the passport, and the national holidays. Loyalty to these symbols is the first act of patriotism.

What divides and what unites

- Dividers: ethnic and religious prejudice, sectionalism, corruption, poverty and inequality; unifiers: the constitution, the national symbols, the armed forces, the national grid institutions (NNPC, NAFDAC, NIDCOM), shared festivals, food and music, and the common struggles of citizenship.

The patriotic citizen

- Pays taxes and rates; obeys the law; protects public property; votes and is voted for; defends the country's image (including online); participates in the community (clean-up, blood donation, the NYSC); rejects cultism, drug abuse and examination malpractice; and serves with excellence wherever he or she works.

CLASS EVALUATION

1. Define patriotism.
2. What do the green and white of the flag represent?
3. State the national motto.
4. List four duties of a patriotic citizen.
5. Mention two things that unite Nigerians.
